

Nangwarry Preschool Newsletter Week 2 Term 3

As the term kicks off we are delving into a number of ongoing projects. Our play space has been rearranged to get the most out of the space so we can explore our senses, set up our small world play with farms and animals as well as get creative and preparing for our show display next term.

We have added an artists corner to our artist studio and there we will be exploring observational art and bookmaking.

Bookmaking at preschool is all about the beginning phases of writing which includes mark making, initial attempts at writing and drawing.

We've also been walking around our local neighborhood as well, thinking about all the different people, shops and businesses in Nangwarry.

Amelia and Mitchell creating a magic garden.

NEW PLAY EQUIPMENT

We have purchased new outdoor play equipment to encourage lots of physical activity. We have a new trapeze bar, diggers, balancing games, hoopla, croquet and more. Most of the games ordered are open ended so the children can get creative with it and use it in multiple ways.

STEM

Speaking of getting creative, we have been getting into lots of Science things lately. We have been making kites and doing lots of experiments with water, air and even salt! Tamsyn has brought in some great books loaded with new ideas for us to work on too. Looks like a busy term ahead!

If you have any spare kindy clothes, especially old track pants, socks and undies, I am happy to take them off your hands. Also if any come home please don't forget to bring them, back!

Yours in Education and Care, Helen Wood